#-super pins, also known as Widebody pinballs
HUU - Home Use Only - pinball has never been operated outside the home for money.

A few notes about pricing:

Blank spaces mean that I don't have a good idea on the pricing. Most likely this is due to lack of data on my part or widely varied prices and my reluctance to just make up a price. These are all for older machines which don't come up for sale that often, like Varkon.

This pricing guide is just that - a guide, you may be able to find MINT machines for less and you may pay more for "average" machines. The "average" price assumes a working machine that has been "shopped" (that is all rubber rings replaced, no burnt out light bulbs, playfield and ramps cleaned, etc). The "average" prices covers a large space so you expect the price to reflect the condition of the machine - playfield wear, cracked plastics, cabinet dings, translucent scratches, display condition, etc.

Generally pricing increases during the 3 months before Christmas and falls in February. There has been a steady price increase in the popular titles over the past 3 years (since WMS pinball ceased pinball production).

Note that older a machine is the harder it is to find a collector's quality (mint / HUU) example of it. A new in the box (NIB) Black Knight was listed on Ebay in December 2003 and failed to meet the reserve at $4900. It's much more profitable and easier to find a nice late model game and renovate it to collector's quality with new cabinet decals, new reproduction plastics, reproduction ramps, ramp protectors, a thorough cleaning and polishing, new DMD, etc. This is a time consuming process - replacing cabinet decals alone is about 20 hours of work! so the selling price must be high enough to make all this time and expense worthwhile.

The Holy Grail WPC titles are Cactus Canyon (approximately 925 made) and Medieval Madness (approximately 3300 made). Other popular titles are Attack From Mars, Theatre of Magic, Twilight Zone, The Addams Family and The Addams Family Gold (only 1000 made), Monster Bash, Imdiana Jones, Fun House, and the list could go on. I guess it would be everything over $2000 in average condition.

The most desirable older titles are Black Knight (both versions), Whirlwind, Joust (because of both its rarity and it's a two player game that actually is fun, Banzai Run, and Diner, to name a few off the top of my head.

There are also games that are theme related: Hurricane, Cyclone and Comet.

Pin*bot, The Machine: Bride of Pinbot, and Jack*bot.

The two Firepowers and the two Black Knights (obviously) and High Speed and The Getaway.

And a few titles are popular because they cross into other collectibles - Harley Davidson, Indianapolis 500, Flintstones, Corvette and Bugs Bunny Birthday Ball come to mind.

Also bear in mind that the manufacturing date will have some bearing on the price. As a rule of thumb, the older the machine, the more beat up it tends to be and the more likely electronic problems will occur.

So what machine has had the greatest price change in the last few years?

Probably Twilight Zone, three years ago you could find them for $1400, now they're hard to find below $2400. On the down side, probably The Getaway going from about $1400 to $950. And both Medieval Madness and Cactus Canyon seem to set new highs every month.

And lastly a note about advertised prices on websites and the classified ads - just because a machine is priced at say $1800 doesn't mean the seller actually got $1800. You should assume that all prices are negotiable based on the condition of the machine. The more knowledgeable you are, the more likely you'll get a fair deal. And a word to the wise, physically inspect the machine - don't rely on pictures. If you can't physically see the machine, only buy from sellers whose reputation is impeccable. And don't rely on Ebay feedback!

These prices are from my own research and are not from any of the published price guides. Since I collect WPC and System 11 games, I'm constantly monitoring Ebay, the Pinball Classified and the pinball newsgroup (RGP) for desirable machines in my area. Lately I've started snapshotting data from the internet, like machines sold via ebay every few weeks and the pinball classified every few days.

If you want a price guide that covers ALL pinball machines from old EM's to the latest Stern machines check out the Mr Pinball Price Guide (Mr Pinball) and Larry Bieza's Pinball Price Guide available at through the GameRoom Magazine website GameRoom Magazine.

And here's a bit of my archival data on Ebay Auctions for MINT pins (TreasureCove, etc) over the past few months just to give you an idea of where the MINT prices come from.
